AMONG the Variety of small Books published for the Instruction of Youth, there appears not to have been any of this Kind yet offered for their Amusement; and as this pleasing Method of teaching Children has been found, by Experience, to be an easy Way of leading them on in Reading, the Author has been induced, though at a considerable Expence, to publish this small HIEROGLYPHICK BIBLE, with a Design to give them an early Taste for the Holy Scriptures, and to engage them, as they advance in Years, more earnestly and seriously in the Study of the sacred Books of the Old and New Testaments.

The pious and early Instruction of Children, is certainly a material Part of every Parent's Duty; and Youth has at all Times been much benefited, when by Means of lively and striking Images, the most remarkable Things that exist in the World are represented to them; especially if the History of the Holy Scriptures is imprinted into them in their younger Days.

It is, above all, a great Advantage, when those Persons who have the constant Care and Inspection over young Children, and therewith gain an Ascendency or Power over such tender Minds, to guide their Thoughts and Inclinations as they please. (I say, when these Persons are able and fit to instruct and teach the Children.) And when they possess that Capacity to excite a Desire for Knowledge, which naturally dwells in our Hearts, it is an agreeable Method to represent pleasing Figures to them : Let the proper Time never slip, when young Infants show an Inclination to receive Instruction ; but do not compel Children to learn certain Tasks in certain measured Hours, for such Compulsion, or Constraint is oftener an obstacle than an Encouragement towards learning the necessary and useful Sciences.

To render this small Book useful and instructing, we have followed in chusing Passages from Holy Scripture the Order observed therein ; beginning with the Creation, and finished with the Redemption of Mankind, interspersed with select moral Doctrines ; and of all this we have quoted the most remarkable Places in the Old and New Testaments.

The whole Sentences, which give an Explanation of the Figures, are placed at the Bottom of each Page ; and the Words, which are represented by Figures, are particularly distinguished in Italick. By such facilitated and pleasing Means all sensible and well educated Mothers, Governesses, and Nurses, have it in their Power to teach and instruct even the youngest Children with proper Ideas of the most important Doctrines, and make them early acquainted with the momentous truths in the Word of God.

When Men's Devices fail :
Here is the Bread that feeds the Life,

Comes to our Ears from hence :

To mortify thy Sin.
Then happy thou in all thy Life,
What so to thee befalls,
Yea doubly happy shalt thou be,

St. MATTHEW, the EVANGELIST.

THIS Evangelist, we are told, was born at Nazareth, the Place where our blessed Saviour resided, and was the Son of Alpheus and Mary, Kinswoman to the blessed Virgin : His Occupation was that of a Publican, or Tax Gatherer to the Romans, an Office detested by the Generality of the Jews. After his Election to the Apostleship, he continued with the rest until the Ascension of his great and beloved Master. After which for the first eight Years at least, he preached in different Places of Judea ; then travelled into several Parts, preaching the Gospel, especially Ethiopia, where he suffered Martyrdom, at a City called Naddabar ; but by what Kind of Death is not certainly known, though the general Opinion is that he was slain with an Halbert.

St. MARK, the EVANGELIST.

THIS Evangelist was descended from Jewish Parents, and supposed to have been converted by some of the Apostles; perhaps by St. Peter, whom he constantly attended in his Travels; but however this be, he preached in Italy and at Rome, where he wrote the Gospel which is called after his Name.— We are told by Eusebius, that he was sent by St. Peter into Egypt to preach the Gospel, and having planted a Church in Alexandria, the idolatrous Inhabitants entered it while he was performing Divine Service, and binding his Feet with cords, dragged him through the Streets to a Precipice near the Sea, leaving him there in a Prison for that Night. The next Morning they dragged him about in the same Manner, until he expired, and afterwards burnt his mangled Body.

ST. LUKE, the EVANGELIST.

ST. Luke was born at Antioch, the Metropolis of Syria, and travelled for Improvement into several Parts of Greece and Egypt, where he became particularly skilled in Physick, which he made his Profession; and was also famous for his Dexterity in Painting. He became the inseparable companion of St. Paul in all his Travels, and constant Fellow Labourer in the Work of the Ministry, who calls him the beloved Physician. The Time or Manner of his Death is not very well agreed on by the Ancients; but some assert, that after coming into Greece he successfully preached the Gospel, until at last a Party of Infidels opposing his Doctrines, they dragged him from the Place where he was preaching, and hung him on an Olive Tree, in the 80th, or, according to St. Jerome, in the 84th Year of his Age.

THIS beloved Disciple of our Lord was a Native of Galilee, the Son of Zebedee and Salome, and Brother of James the Great.—After the Ascension of our blessed Saviour, he applied himself to propagating Christianity, and founded many Churches in Asia; but being accused as a Subverter of the Religion of the Empire, he was sent bound to Rome, by Order of the Emperour Domitian and thrown into a Caldron of boiling Oil; but was taken out unhurt.—This not being sufficient to convince this cruel Emperour, or abate his Fury, he ordered him to be transported to the Island of Patmos, where he wrote his Book of Revelations. After the Death of Domitian, his Successor recalled those that had been banished, and St. John returned again to Asia, and fixed his Seat at Ephesus, until Death put an End to all his Toils and Sufferings, in the 98th Year of his Age.
